Shout Outs

If you would like some special occasion like an anniversary or birthday acknowledged in the Sunday service, Fr Julian will be more than happy to announce it. However, it must be into either Father Julian or the office by Wednesday Evening for it to be included in the service for the following Sunday.

Live Streaming

The service will be streamed at 9 am on Sunday. Here are the links for the service and the bulletin. The link is also available on the home page of our website.

Summer Sign-up Rosters

The summer sign-up rosters are posted in the link. Please make sure to sign up. This is a great time to try out different jobs. Again this year, we will have two summer camps operating in the church. Both camps will be in full swing this week.

Celebrating Bahamian Independence

Members of the Bahamian community gathered at St Mark's last Sunday morning to celebrate the 51st Anniversary of Bahamian Independence. The church was full and joyful. We were treated to a West Indies version of All Things Bright and Beautiful whose verses listed the delights of the islands – white sand, mangoes, sea grapes, grouper, crab & lobster among others. The service was followed by a reception in the hall featuring punch, ginger beer, Bahamian Baked Mac and Cheese, Jerk Meatballs, chicken, fruit and sweet potato bread among other treats

Stewardship Moment

As we embark upon our annual summer activities, I thought I would share what I like to think of as a modern parable.

There was a farmer who grew excellent quality corn. Every year he won the award for the best grown corn. One year a newspaper reporter interviewed him and learned something interesting about how he grew it.

The reporter discovered that the farmer shared his seed corn with his neighbours. "How can you afford to share your best seed corn with your neighbours when they are entering corn in competition with yours each year?" the reporter asked.

"Why sir," said the farmer, "Didn't you know? The wind picks up pollen from the ripening corn and swirls it from field to field. If my neighbours grow inferior corn, cross-pollination will steadily degrade the quality of my corn. If I am to grow good corn, I must help my neighbours grow good corn."

So is with our lives... Those who want to live meaningfully and well must help enrich the lives of others, for the value of a life is measured by the lives it touches.

And those who choose to be happy must help others find happiness, for the welfare of each is bound up with the welfare of all...

I see our community of St. Mark's as that cornfield. The congregation is nurtured with the word of God and the challenge of creating the dream of heaven here on earth has been given to us. We are asked to be the hands and feet of God in our communities and in our lives. We share these gifts with others to ensure that our environment is rich and productive and in return we are enriched and prosper.

It's easy to pray and be thankful for our blessings. We soak in the love of God like our skin soaks in the warmth of the sun and then our little prayers and sacrifices seem to be as fragrant and as full of purpose as a field of summer wildflowers.

Over the summer, please remember the needs of St. Mark's, in your prayers and with your donations.

Report from the Treasurer:

Up until the end of March, we were in pretty good shape financially. Unfortunately, April was a bit of a disastrous month. Not only did we have larger than expected expenses due to the blockage by roots of the sewer line from the hall, collections fell off sharply and were ~$4,500 less than expected for the month. We recovered a little bit in May, with expenses down and collections closer to expected. However, at the end of May our expenses exceeded our income by ~$14,600. This amount is ~$1,500 than budgeted and exceeds the amount of accumulated funds. Having our income exceed our expenses at this time of year is expected. In our typical cash flow situation, our year-to-date expenses and income will not be balanced until December 31 (in a good year). It is, however, a little worrying to be almost $7,000 behind in our collections income heading in to the summer.

Is it time to update your COVID vaccine?

Ottawa Public Health is holding a spring vaccination campaign. It includes the recommendation that people over 65 who have not received a COVID-19 vaccine in the past 6 months should do so now. A typical early-summer spike in cases is expected and research has shown that COVID-19 can still cause serious illness among older adults – even more severe than seasonal influenza. If you are eligible for a COVID shot, vaccines are available at pharmacies and at some neighbourhood health and wellness hubs. More information is available at ottawapublichealth.ca
